Please Read Instructions Below

For almost all the presidents, you will find their first name very near their last name. Please be aware of the 32nd president. Due to lack of space, he had to share his name with two other presidents.

* The exception to the names being near each other is John Adams (No. 2). His last name is found in the upper right (going up) and his first name is found in the lower right (going up). (He was the father of John Quincy Adams . . . the only other president, besides George W. Bush, who was the son of a president.)
