POPCORN, CANDY, AND THE WORD OF GOD

An energetic group of children gathered at a local soccer field in western Brazil. Some visitors had come with popcorn, candies and stories! Small packages were filled with candy and one special item—a Scripture booklet in Portuguese, their language!

The visitors were going house to house in their village, sharing the gospel of Jesus Christ. As the children gathered on the soccer field to enjoy popcorn and lollipops, the evangelists prayed with them and shared stories from the Bible. They read The Way to God Scripture booklet from World Missionary Press, telling the wonderful story of God's love. Many of these children of Brazilian/Indian background were hearing the story of Jesus for the very first time! The results were amazing! Many children received Jesus as their Savior.

RUNNING FROM SATAN TO CHRIST

One Sunday in a church in Peru a man almost ran to the altar to give his heart to Jesus. He had been trained by a cult of Satanists to go out and destroy the largest churches in the area that were preaching the gospel of Jesus Christ. His assignment had been to destroy this particular church. But as he heard the word of God preached he could not resist the power of God and brokenly received Jesus as his Savior.

Because of his training and mission he feared for his life now that he had become a Christian. The church he had gone to destroy gave him refuge until it was safe for him to move on where he could reach others with the truth of Jesus Christ.

LEARNING ABOUT GOD THROUGH HIS WORD

Kim worked with Liberian children through a Kid's Club program. Many of the parents, who considered themselves Muslims, were not readers and wanted to learn to read and write English. Kim chose the word of God as a teaching tool to help them learn English. One week a Muslim woman was saved after reading God's word and began reading it every day.

She and Kim prayed that more of the Muslim parents would come to know Jesus as Lord. They wanted to use World Missionary Press Bible studies and Scripture booklets as guides for learning English. They ordered a total of 200 copies of various titles that would give the clear message of the gospel as the reader studied the English language.

BUDDHIST SHEDS A TEAR FOR JESUS

Liang and his wife were visiting Hong Kong from their home in China. Among the crowd of tourists they met Christian workers offering tourist bags filled with souvenirs, maps, and World Missionary Press Scripture booklets. Liang was a Buddhist but his wife was a Christian. As the workers began to share the gospel with Liang they knew that it would be a challenge to witness to him, but they were extremely surprised when he listened very carefully and even shed a tear halfway through their conversation. Although he had undoubtedly heard the gospel many times from his wife, he finally decided to let go of his idols and welcomed Jesus into his heart.

FINDING GOD FAR FROM HOME

Imagine that your home is in the middle of a war zone and your family must leave everything behind and travel to another country to find safety. From Syria, you travel many miles to strange places that do not look like your homeland. Your family must sleep in a gymnasium with 700 other people on cots lined up in a row. Very few of the people who are trying to help you, speak your language. You are filled with fear and uncertainty.

Then someone offers you a small booklet in your language that tells you How to Know God. You read of His love and plan for you as His child. After traveling so far you have found God, who was seeking you.

WHO DID I WANT TO SERVE?

Sellina didn't understand why people would give their lives to Jesus. One day his son came running to him to show what he had received from a team of missionaries visiting his village in Zambia. It was a World Missionary Press Scripture booklet! His son began to read the booklet to him. Sellina was touched by the words on the booklet, Satan versus CHRIST. He wanted to hear the story! His son asked his father, who did he want to serve? As his son read more, Sellina asked what he could do to serve Jesus. He called to the missionary team, who came and helped him give his life to the Lord.

IN NEED OF HELP

Derrick was homeless and needed help. Members of a street ministry team gave him a ride to a shelter. On the way they spoke to him about God. Derrick replied that he was angry with God because of his circumstances. The team members shared that God was for him and loved him and that the real enemy of his soul was Satan, who wanted to destroy him. Derrick had never heard this before, and as the team shared what God had done to redeem him from the enemy, Derrick's heart was softened. When a team member asked him if he wanted to give his life to Christ, he prayed, confessing his sin, asking for forgiveness, and accepting Christ as Savior.
