Resources for Reaching, Teaching, and Discipling

For the equipping of the saints for the work of ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ. —Ephesians 4:12

Pastor Robert in Kenya wrote, "The booklets you sent us are helping us teach the Word, reach children in Sunday School, and share the Gospel with families who are hungry for truth. We are especially grateful because many of our members cannot afford Bibles and study materials on their own." In two sentences, Robert summarized what people around the world are discovering: World Missionary Press booklets help evangelize, teach, and disciple without cost to the evangelist, seeker, or believer.

Just as the apostles brought the free message of one Messiah for all people into a world of many gods, beliefs, and religions, today's world still needs the Gospel proclaimed by every believer. For that reason, every booklet produced by WMP gives a special focus from God's Word.

Billions of people have little understanding of who Jesus is or how to know the true God. WMP booklets address these needs with clear, biblical messages. For someone unfamiliar with Christ, The Amazing Life of Jesus Christ explains His eternal nature, earthly ministry, sacrificial death, and victorious resurrection. It encourages readers to trust Him as Savior and discover the assurance of salvation.

Pastor Bruce discovered The Amazing Life of Jesus Christ in his church foyer after a parishioner placed copies there. He began using the booklet in discipleship conversations with young adults who met before dawn after working third shift. Soon, hearts were responding to God's Word. Bruce testified, "You can't program that kind of growth. God is doing it."

Many struggle with questions about their own purpose and value. Some believe life is the result of chance, while others are weighed down by difficult circumstances. Who Am I That a King Would Die in My Place? speaks directly to that sense of hopelessness. It explains that humanity was created as the crown of God's creation and is deeply loved by Him. Through Christ, people can know forgiveness, purpose, and the light of life rather than darkness (Jeremiah 31:3; John 3:16; John 8:12).

In Uganda, many Sunday school teachers and youth leaders spent most of their class time singing because they lacked teaching resources. "We faced many challenges in providing teaching materials for children's and youth leaders to use in Sunday school classes until we discovered WMP study materials." —Frederick A.

Booklets such as the God Loves You! coloring book and The Way to God are especially effective for children's ministries. The coloring book combines engaging activities with Bible-based lessons, pairing illustrations with key Scripture passages. The Way to God helps older children understand God's love, the plan of salvation, and what it means to follow Christ daily.

WMP's six Bible study booklets, along with titles such as How to Know God, Help from Above, and Alive in Christ, are designed to help new believers and young people grow in their faith. These resources provide practical biblical teaching that encourages Christians to live holy, godly lives and become mature disciples of Jesus Christ.

While the scale of ministry varies from one church to another, the need remains the same: practical, affordable resources that help believers reach their communities with the Gospel. Whether your congregation is struggling, growing, sending mission teams, or seeking new ways to engage your community, World Missionary Press is ready to help. We invite you to learn more about our free Scripture resources and discover how they can support your pastor, church, and ministry. 🌍

Meet the Team

Rushena A., Accounting Assistant

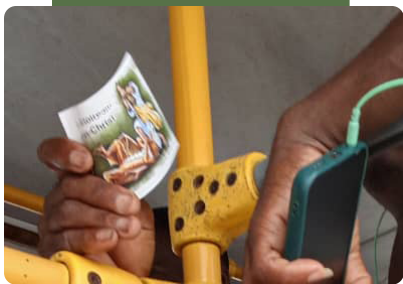

With more than 20 years of accounting experience, I discovered World Missionary Press through a job search site and joined the team six months ago. From my very first day, I was struck by the warmth and welcoming spirit of the staff, as well as the unique opportunity to openly share my faith while being part of God's work internationally.

I recently moved to the Nappanee area to be closer to my family. My son lives in Nappanee, and my daughter and her fiancé live in Edwardsburg, Michigan, where they are raising their two six-year-old children. Being closer to them has been a tremendous blessing.

In my free time, I enjoy cooking, camping, and shopping. Most of all, I cherish spending time with my children and my two grandsons. We love boating and fishing together, especially at Weko Beach on Lake Michigan and other nearby lakes.

As someone new to both the area and WMP, I feel incredibly blessed to be here. I look forward to the journey ahead and to continuing to share the Gospel of Jesus Christ with people around the world.

Grateful Quotes: Côte d'Ivoire

"Our relationship with WMP has grown over many years. It is a relationship of trust, friendship, and partnership in the Gospel.

The impact is tremendous. Churches constantly ask us for these booklets because they are powerful tools for evangelism, teaching, and discipleship. We send one of our agents as a missionary throughout Côte d'Ivoire. He travels from one region to another, visiting churches that need Christian literature and carrying a large quantity of WMP booklets for evangelism.

Even police officers stationed at checkpoints receive the booklets. They are happy to receive them and sometimes even facilitate the passage of our vehicle. To me, this shows how much people appreciate these booklets and how much they want to have something meaningful to read.

Through this work, the booklets reach churches, villages, children, young people, and adults. New churches are being planted, and existing churches are growing. The booklet is small, but the message is powerful.

Just last Sunday, a child came to me and told me that his parents are Muslims and do not want him to go to church. He wanted to read God's Word. So, we provided him with your literature. That moment touched my heart deeply. It reminded me that we never know what God can do with His Word placed in someone's hands.

Thank you to everyone who gives, prays, works, and makes this ministry possible. You may never meet the people who receive these booklets, but your generosity is touching lives here in Côte d'Ivoire." —Pierre
